Basics *Input/Output *Output In Python 3, unlike C and C++, there is no need to use any I/O Library. To create (also known as $\backslash n$ or $ENTER$) and returns the string. For example: input.py print(input("Name:")) Take a look at t